Now Time to Increase Farm Efficiency

This is the time of year when Hempstead County farm families can take the steps they need to take to increase the efficiency of their farming operations during the coming farm season, reports W. M. Sparks, Farmers Home Administration county supervisor.

The agency advances operating credit primarily to help eligible farm families make improved use of their land and labor resources on family-type farms and make needed changes in their farming systems. Most of the changes call for adopting better farming practices and improving the efficiency of their farming operations. The loans help farmers pay for equipment, livestock feed, seed, fertilizer and other farm and home operating needs, including refinancing chattel debts. Operating loans run from 1 to 7 years at two percent interest. The bulk of the operating loan money in this area, Mr. Sparks said, is being used for equipment and livestock. Many of the changes in farming systems are resulting in better dairy herds, more dependable pasture and better beef herds.

Before an operating loan for adjustment purposes is closed, the applicant and the county supervisor agree on the proposed long-time improvement. At the beginning of each farming year while the loan is being repaid, the family with Mr. Sparks' help makes annual plans for the best use of the farm income and to determine additional credit needs. A year-end review of the past year's successes and mistakes guides the family and the county supervisor when they get together to plan for the year coming up.

Mr. Sparks said he can make operating loans only to families who have or can acquire land and labor resources needed to help them improve their farming, and who are not presently able to turn to private or cooperative lenders for adequate financing of the type they require. All borrowers graduate to conventional credit as soon as they can.

Sheridan School Janitor Dies

SHERIDAN, Ark. (AP) — Jacob C. Rhodes has been arriving two hours before classes at Sheridan Elementary School since he was hired as custodian 23 years ago. Yesterday for the first time in 23 years the school was locked and cold when faculty and students arrived.

Several teachers visited Rhodes' home and found a note pinned to the door, explaining he was ill. Entering the house, they found Rhodes had died during the night.

Survivors include two sons, Kelvin Rhodes of the Air Force and Carolyn Rhodes of Portland, Ore.; a daughter, Mrs. Thelma Marsh of Camden; and two sisters, Mrs. Charlie Cotton of Sheridan and Mrs. Dan Storer of Monroe, La. Funeral services are scheduled for tomorrow here.

DAFFODIL GARDEN club will hold its 4th annual pancake supper January 24 from 5:30 to 8:30 p. m. in Hope High School, with all proceeds going to the Kiwanis Club for use in building the Youth Center.

The photo above is a representation of present and future users of Hope Youth Center. They urge everyone to make the pancake supper a big success.

Research May Have New Data About Earth

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recent research suggests the earth may lie within a gaseous layer surrounding the sun, 93 million miles away.

Previously, the concept has been that the sun's corona, or outermost gaseous layer, extends only several hundred thousand miles into space.

Hugh Odishaw, executive secretary of the U. S. National Committee of the International Geophysical Year, told about this in discussing some of the research results so far during the 18-month IGY.

The IGY, now six months along, is a cooperative effort of 67 nations to learn more about the earth, its oceans and the cosmic environment surrounding it.

Odishaw's report in the Journal Science dealt mainly with American research results. But he also made some references to activities of other participating nations.

He indicated that new support has been gained for a theory that the sun's crown-like corona actually reaches out some 93 million miles, filling all the space between the earth and the sun with a kind of very thin atmosphere. Continued on Page Three

Why Does a Man Feel That One Trip to a Psychiatrist's Couch Makes Him an Authority

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — A man can go to a lawyer and return home without feeling he himself has become an attorney.

A man can go to a physician and emerge without feeling that the visit has turned him into another Hippocrates or Dr. Paul Dudley White.

Then why, pray tell me, can't a person go to a psychiatrist and leave without the conviction that he is now the reincarnation of Sigmund Freud?

I am not one to mock the benefits of psychoanalysis, real or fancied. If a fellow takes an hour off in the middle of the day to lie down on a couch and tell his troubles, he at least is taking a load off his feet as well as his chest.

It may do a lot for his mind as well as test his feet. But why does he feel that one trip to a

Bomb Scare at Little Rock's Central High

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A bomb scare touched off a search of Central High School by a platoon of Arkansas National Guardsmen last night, but no explosive was found and the soldiers were withdrawn.

Classes are not scheduled at the court-integrated school today. Teachers are grading mid-term examinations.

An Arkansas Military District spokesman said the normal complement of federalized guardsmen — about 25 men — was on duty today as usual. The shift was changed recently to weekdays only from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. formerly the guardsmen were on duty at all times.

Betty was used in research to develop a treatment for water on the brain. Physicians said it will save the lives of many children.

'Inequities in Acreage' Is Criticized

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Grant (D-Ala.) moved today to remove what he termed inequities in the government's cotton acreage allotment program.

He proposed legislation protecting farmers who have participated in the cotton program from being cut in acreage beginning next year below the 1954 allotment by a greater percentage than the reduction in the national allotment since that time.

Grant, a member of the House Agriculture Committee, said the administrators have permitted the cotton program to deteriorate into an accumulation of acreage allotment inequities.

He said this has been caused by a lack of sympathy for the cotton program among those "with the highest responsibility for its administration." The inequities, Grant said, "are causing inexcusable hardships among large and small cotton farmers and have resulted in damage to the economy of many communities" in the Southern Cotton Belt.

"Members of Congress from the Southern states and the old belt of the Southwest, the world's principal cotton producing area for almost two centuries, have fought consistently and hard to prevent these inequities and hardships before they occurred, but we have been thwarted by this lack of sympathy in the Department of Agriculture and, more particularly, by political alignments that have favored development of cotton production in new areas of the West," he said.

"The result is that the department now is making cotton allotments primarily on the basis of a three-year history favoring the West as against a production history of more than 150 years in the old Cotton Belt of the South and Southwest. Thus, acreage allotments in the old belt have declined while production in the new areas of the West have increased year by year," he said.

Find $346,000, Ignores Court

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Another attempt will be made next Wednesday to get Carl Scott and Superior Court for his account of finding a treasure of $346,000 for June, 1916, out of it in cash in an old stove.

Scott is a 36-year-old disabled veteran who lives at Fresno, Calif. He failed to show up yesterday for a hearing at which the Bank of America seeks to recover the cash and securities of Walter S. Brooks, 80, now in a Sonoma nursing home.

Mrs. Scott, a schoolteacher, was there.

The judge said her testimony appeared to be evasive.

The Scotts are antique dealers and they seek to keep 10 per cent of their findings. They bought the stove at an auction.

The Scotts' attorney, Don C. Marks, told Judge Harry Newbarr he had advised Scott in his court yesterday but his client said he had to come because he had received the required five-day notice.

Navy Launches Missile Test in Florida

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Navy launched a polaris ballistic missile test vehicle here today.

It was the first Polaris test officially identified as such. Judging from its performance at the start, and until it disappeared down the Air Force missile test range, it was a highly successful shot.

The Lockheed missile was launched at a minute before 8 a. m. into a cloudless blue sky.

Watchers in the chill morning air saw it whosh upward with a considerably greater rate of acceleration than that of other big ballistic missiles launched here recently. The Polaris is noted for its fantastic speed.

It left a long white trail high out across toward the southeast. The roar of its rocket motor came some seconds after the missile left the ground.

Almost immediately after the launching the Air Force missile test center here confirmed it.

This announcement was made: "A test vehicle in the Navy Polaris program was fired from the missile test center at 7:49 a. m. today."

It is known that a number of Polaris test devices have been fired from this center within the past 12 months.

In each case those launchings that were confirmed were described merely as test vehicles, without associating them with Polaris.

Polaris, named after the North Star, is the Navy's 1,500-mile intermediate-range ballistic missile. It was designed for launching from atomic powered submarines above or below water, and from aboard ships.

Polaris reportedly will be the biggest and most complex missile the Navy ever has attempted to build. It will be smaller and lighter than the other IRBMs — the Air Force Thor and the Army Jupiter — in the nation's arsenal.

The operational Polaris probably will be about 50 feet tall — 10 feet shorter than the Air Force and Army IRBMs — and 100 inches in diameter, and may be capable of carrying an atomic warhead of up to 1,000 pounds. There was no indication of the size or weight of the test vehicle fired today.

Aerofit General Corp., Sacramento, Calif., is developing the Jupiter IRBM. Like the Air Force Thor, it uses a liquid propellant.

The Navy turned to solid propellant rocket power, as more practical for use aboard ship, after that type of fuel and oxidizer combination became available in efficient and usable form.

Seal Sales in Hempstead Totals $1,312

Chas. Reynerson, chairman of the Hempstead County Tuberculosis Association, announces that a total of $1,312.75 has been given in the annual Christmas Seal Sale. This contribution has been given by 74 persons from over the whole county. This is slightly under the amount given last year.

Plans are underway to more effectively inform the people of Hempstead about TB, and to help in the provision of facilities for case finding. These plans cannot be carried out without additional funds.

Mr. Reynerson feels sure there are many who intend to give to this cause but have forgotten to send in their contributions. He reminds that Christmas Seals fight TB all year round. Contributions can be given to Mr. Reynerson, or mailed in to the Hempstead County TB Association. Any amount will be most sincerely appreciated.

Department Store Sales Show Dip

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Department store sales in the Eighth Federal Reserve District last week slipped 2 per cent compared to the same week in 1937, the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis said today.

Louisville and Little Rock areas showed gains of 2 per cent, but Memphis and St. Paul district sales slid 11 per cent each.

St. Louis area sales were the same in the periods compared.

Benson Gets Challenge From Hostile Senators; Bank Signings Halted

Some Chance Others Will Get to Sign Later

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department today halted for the time being the signing of agreements with farmers to retire land from cotton growing this year under the acreage reserve pact of the soil bank program.

While instructing its state and local field offices to accept no more such agreements now, the department asked these offices to keep a record of farmers still wishing to participate, in the order in which they apply. It may be possible officials said, to allow some of them to take part, if enough money is available.

The suspension is effective in all cotton-growing states. It was ordered, officials said, to avoid the possibility of oversubscribing cotton's part of the half-billion-dollar acreage reserve fund. Many more farmers want to participate in the cotton retirement program than had been anticipated, officials said.

The department has allocated about 178 million dollars for cotton. This amount is now being divided among cotton-producing states. In turn, the state allocations will be divided among counties by the respective state agricultural stabilization and conservation committees.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmer interest in the acreage reserve part of the soil bank—which is headed for the ash can—is turning out to be greater than federal officials had expected.

The Agriculture Department reports that so many cotton farmers in the Southwest rushed to participation.

Secretary Benson disclosed last week that the administration proposed to abandon the acreage reserve next year and to strengthen the longer-term conservation reserve.

In his special message on agriculture sent to Congress yesterday, President Eisenhower called for termination of the acreage reserve because, he said, the number of farmers participating this year is likely to be small.

Congress has authorized acreage reserve payments totaling not more than half a billion dollars this year.

Officials were checking other counties. Continued on Page Three

Arraignment of Arkansan Delayed

MEMPHIS (AP) — Arraignment in federal court here of a wealthy Osceola businessman on charges of evading $302,821 in income taxes was postponed yesterday until next Thursday.

Andrew J. Florida's attorney said his client had been ill and under sedation for several days. The lawyer, Lucius Burch, said Florida would be able to appear in court by next Thursday.

Arraignment of Aubrey E. Scott, Florida's former accountant, also was postponed until next Thursday. Scott is charged with aiding in the preparation of false income tax returns.

School Patrol Saves a Child

5 NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A school safety patrol boy pulled a 6-year-old girl out of the path of a moving train here police said yesterday.

Patrolman Bob Stage identified the girl as Barbara Wilson, daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. Theodore H. Wilson, and the boy as Clarence Jones Jr., 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jones.

Clarence was on duty at a railroad crossing Wednesday afternoon when he saw Barbara drop a purse on the track and stop to pick it up as a train approached slowly about 15 feet away.

Stage said Clarence ran onto the track, grabbed the girl's arm and pulled her to safety.

13,000 Have Signed Up in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An Agriculture official said today that nearly 13,000 Arkansas cotton farmers have signed soil bank agreements and about 2,000 were unable to do so because county offices could not handle their applications.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has ordered the Arkansas Stabilization and Conservation Committee to stop accepting agreements in the cotton acreage reserve of the soil bank.

The ban was attributed to a heavy run by cotton growers.

Clyde Lieblong, state administrative officer of the committee, said the estimates of applications were only through Wednesday.

N. A. McChesney, soil bank specialist of the ASC office, said the final figures would not be available until Monday.

Lieblong said "it was a physical impossibility to take care of the large number of applicants in some counties yesterday."

The busiest offices were in Mississippi, White, Greene, Craighead and Jackson counties, Lieblong said.

Soil bank applications opened last Monday. In the first three days a total of 12,939 state farmers signed agreements to place their cotton acreage in the soil bank, Lieblong said.

A total of 166,770 acres was involved, and the contracts obligated the federal government to pay a total of $10,735,505 to farmers.

There were 2,114 farmers who had appointments but were unable to sign agreements by Wednesday, Lieblong said.

There is no limit at present on soil bank agreements involving crops other than cotton, Lieblong said.

He said the ban on processing cotton applications is a temporary measure until the state ASC committee meets Monday to make county cotton allocations.

The deadline for soil bank applications still is March 7, Lieblong said.

The agricultural official said he had no idea of "how many farmers stayed at home and planned to come in later." He referred to farmers who had not made appointments this week.

In Craighead County an agriculture official said that only 400 of 816 farmers who made appointments had signed agreements yesterday.

Accuracy of Statements Are Doubled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hostile senators challenged the accuracy of Secretary of Agriculture Benson to his face today as he urged Congress to authorize lower farm price supports and ease crop production controls.

Chairman Ellender (D-La.) accused Benson of making inaccurate statements to the Senate Agriculture Committee in support of President Eisenhower's farm program proposals, sent to Congress in a special message.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Min.) said of a portion of Benson's testimony: "The Federal Trade Commission would rule it out as false advertising."

"There is nothing false about it," Benson retorted, his voice rising in apparent heat.

Benson was attempting, at a public hearing by the committee, to read a 24-page prepared statement urging swift approval of the so-called administration farm proposals.

But an hour and 10 minutes after starting it, he had read only the first two pages. Sen. Holland (D-Mo.) protested that the repeated interruptions from other committee members were unfair.

Holland urged that Benson be permitted to read the statement without interruption.

"Sen. Holland," Ellender replied, "I hope you don't accuse me of being unfair." He said he has been in the Senate for 21 years and no one ever has accused him of being unfair.

Ellender stuck to his ruling that senators could interrupt Benson any time they wanted to challenge a statement.

Benson came under fire almost from the first minute of his testimony, when he said he was happy to be able to report some favorable developments in agriculture, one of them that prices received by farmers have been running three per cent above a year ago.

"You don't give the other side of the picture," Ellender said, contending that Benson didn't mention that the cost of things the farmer has to buy had risen more than that with the result that farm income is down 200 million dollars.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson today urged Congress to ease crop production controls and to authorize lower price supports as a means of

Custody of Little Girl in Question

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Who will finally get custody of little Marilyn Sue Henry, a 6-year-old girl whose father and grandmother are accused of stealing her from a Nebraska children's home?

A matter of legal ramifications has stemmed from a 4-year dispute over the blonde, blue-eyed child.

Apparently the next move in the case will be made by Gov. Orval Faubus.

An extradition hearing will be conducted in Faubus' office next Monday to determine whether the girl's grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Huddleston, and James Bradley Henry, 35-year-old father of the child, are to be sent to Nebraska to face child-stealing charges.

Both Mrs. Huddleston and her son live at North Little Rock. Marilyn Sue is with her grandmother at present.

A hearing on the Nebraska fugitive charges was postponed yesterday in Little Rock Municipal Court at the request of the grandmother and Henry's attorney, pending the extradition hearing.

Dale Price, the attorney, announced that Mrs. Huddleston and her son would refuse to waive extradition to Nebraska. Charges filed in that state allege that he paid removed Marilyn Sue at gunpoint from a Lincoln children's home several months ago.

Acting Judge R. W. Laster could only have transferred the hearing to Faubus' office anyway, so the case was passed until Feb. 13 to give the governor time to conduct the extradition hearing.

Validity of Un-American Group Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals today upheld validity of the resolution creating the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

It did so in reaffirming 5-4 the contempt of Congress conviction of Lloyd Barenblatt, who formerly taught at the University of Michigan and Vassar College.

Barenblatt was charged with contempt for refusing to tell the committee whether he was, or ever had been, a Communist party member when he appeared before the committee June 28, 1954.

The majority held that the Supreme Court did not invalidate the resolution creating the committee in its Watkins decision last June.

In that case, the Supreme Court reversed the contempt conviction of John T. Watkins, a labor organizer of Rock Island, Ill., and sharply criticized the House resolution setting up the Committee on Un-American Activities.

Speaking for the majority of the Court of Appeals, Judge Walter M. Bastian said that if the high court had intended to strike down the resolution "it would have said so in so many words."

After the Watkins decision, the Supreme Court sent the Barenblatt case back to the Court of Appeals for another look.

Dispels All Doubts About No Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Anderson was ready today to dispel any remaining doubts in Congress over the possibility of tax cuts this year, and possibly next year as well.

Anderson was summoned to outline the administration's tax position before the House Ways and Means Committee in its hearings on tax policy and revenue law revision.

President Eisenhower's State of the Union message made clear that individual and corporate income tax rates probably will remain unchanged for another year to finance heavy new defense spending.

Yesterday, Eisenhower also indirectly answered some Capitol Hill speculation that taxes might even have to be increased.

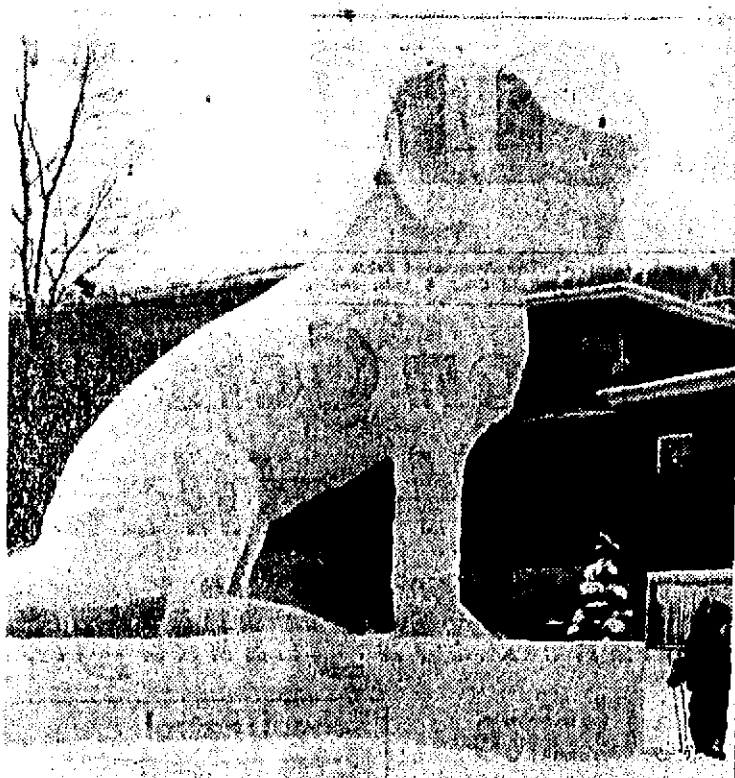

He told his news conference he would prefer some red ink financing to higher taxes now. His comment left little room for considering a tax cut.

Even with income tax rates continued at their Korean War highs for another year, a 400-million-dollar deficit is forecast for this fiscal year and a barely balanced budget in sight for the 1958-59 bookkeeping year starting next July 1.

The administration is expected to ask Congress soon to cancel once more reductions scheduled to take effect in July in excise and corporate tax rates, and to continue present rates on individual income taxes in an effort to balance the 1958 budget of $73,000,000,000.

Steak, Ham Get Special Market Prices

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Steak and smoked ham get the feature treatment in many super markets and neighborhood stores this weekend.

Sirloin, porterhouse and round steak will be offered at special attractions. This situation may be repeated fairly often in the next few months, since some livestock men are saying that grain-fed steers, which yield the better grades of beef, will drop 10 to 15 per cent by April.

Any general beef decline, however, is not expected for a year or so. Cattlemen who saw their herds dwindle away during the drought are holding animals off the market.

Aside from bargains in smoked ham, pork prices are generally higher this week, by as much as 10 cents a pound. Fryers, too, are up, although the range is only 2 to 4 cents a pound.

The second Florida freeze, on top of the earlier cold spell there, has made it even tougher than before to find real bargains in fruits and vegetables. About the best of the lot in vegetable bins are onions, potatoes and celery, although more new cabbage is coming to market, with a subsequent lowering in prices.

The so-called cooking greens—collards, kale and spinach—also are good buys. Western iceberg lettuce is a bit cheaper this week, rating a fairly good buy label.

Cucumbers, which in recent weeks have hit their highest levels in several years, backed down somewhat this week, but they're still very dear. Eggplant, peppers and squash are in the same category—lower but still high priced. Squash was one of the hardest-hit vegetables in the freeze.

Carrots in cellophane bags are sharply higher, although the bunched variety are not so expensive. Tomatoes, hard hit by heavy rains in the growing areas, are still very high.

If you want to eat them right away, apples are the best buy among the fruits. By this time most of the apples are getting ripe.

Churchill Not Available for Comment

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill flew to the Riviera today for his annual winter vacation and gave airport reporters no chance to question him about his nervous breakdown.

Churchill's black sedan pulled up at the airport's VIP lounge, where newsmen could have approached him. As his chauffeur started to open the door, the 85-year-old statesman glared and shook his head, then slouched in the back seat and read newspapers.

When the plane was ready for loading, the chauffeur drove Churchill to the foot of the passenger stairway leading to the plane. Puffing his usual long cigar in disregard of the airport's "No Smoking" signs, Churchill started slowly up the ramp, posed briefly for photographers, and entered the plane still puffing.

Lady Churchill did not accompany him. The British press rallied to Sarah Churchill's support and praised her performance on a TV show after her arrest in Los Angeles.

Can't Blame Parents for Delinquency

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Atty. Gen. John M. Dalton held in an opinion today that adults no longer may be charged with "contributing to the delinquency of a child." Dalton explained that the old section of Missouri law defining a delinquent child was repealed last year and was not reenacted.

Last year the Legislature enacted a new code in which the term "juvenile delinquent" was not used. Thus, Dalton said, the section on contributing to the delinquency of a child (Sec. 550.300) no longer can be used.

But under the new juvenile code the juvenile courts have broad power to deal with any mature person who induces another under 17 years of age to do anything illegal.

The opinion was requested by Herbert F. Butterfield, of Matt. said, prosecuting attorney of St. Louis County.

Mother Saves Two But 3rd Child Dies

ROGERS, Ark. (AP) — A mother and the two small daughters she saved from their blazing apartment are recovering today in a Rogers hospital from burns.

A third child perished in the fire yesterday.

Attendees said Mrs. Melvin Baker, 23, and her daughters, Melva, 3, and Marcella, 9 months, were "doing nicely."

Two-year-old Cathy Baker was killed. Coroner William F. Burns said she died of suffocation.

Fire Chief Frank Jacobs said the fire apparently started when dish towels hanging above the kitchen range became ignited.

Mrs. Baker carried the baby girl in her arms and led the older child to safety, but could not return to rescue Cathy.

School Seeks to End Crime, Violence

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The superintendent of Kansas City's schools, searching for a way to quell violence and crime in high schools, says he'll seek authority to suspend unruly pupils for a semester. Suspensions now are limited by school board regulation to 10 days.

Supt. James A. Hazlett asked his supervisors to take swift action against pupils who misbehave persistently.

"We're not going to let acute and chronic cases interfere with our work," he declared.

Hazlett already had taken steps to expel pupils caught carrying a weapon or extorting money from other pupils. He also promised legal aid for any teacher attacked by a pupil or a loiterer on school property.

The flareup of violence and extortion led Maj. Doran Denison of the police youth bureau to recommend passage of a city ordinance prohibiting unauthorized persons from visiting school property without written permission from the principal.

Denison said much of the violence has been traced to outsiders. Hazlett said the biggest trouble spot is Central High School, where 60 per cent of the student body is Negro. Kansas City schools were integrated nearly four years ago.

Hazlett said he is not sure the problem arises from integration. He reported most of the offenders are Negroes.

DOROTHY DIX

Keep Mum You'll Never Spill Secrets

Dear Dorothy Dix: Should a wife tell her husband everything, or should she keep her own private affairs to herself? Some of my friends say a wife should share every soul-searching secret with her husband, others tell me not to be a blabbermouth. I've only been married six months and I suppose it's little things like this that can make or break a marriage. Your advice will be appreciated, as always.

Dear Virginia: A wife not only has a right, but a duty, to keep her own secrets. The old charge that women talk too much goes double in the home. Half the trouble their husbands are due to overactive larynxes. For instance, if her husband is a worried businessman, she shouldn't add her petty, private woes to his list of burdens.

Any gal who would parade her mistakes in front of her husband is a candidate for the looney bin. During the first few months of marriage, these might be taken jokingly, but believe me they furnish fodder for many a marital squabble later in life. If you make a bad bargain, shove it in the back of your Fibber McGee closet.

"Don't ever mention past romances," don't compare your husband to former boy friends, don't spread neighborhood gossip of the malice variety. Yes, Virginia, a wife should definitely keep mum all times. You're fully entitled to your own secrets — but remember, so is he!

Dear Dorothy Dix: We have only been married a month but my husband still writes to all his former sweethearts. How can I stop him?

CANDY: Dear Candy: You married an adolescent who still has some growing up to do. Try to explain to him that he's taken on adult responsibilities and should act accordingly. Make a joke, instead of a tragedy, over his mail and he'll come to see how silly he is.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My fiancé is 16, I'm 17. He wants to get married this summer and keep it a secret until I finish school. I want to wait, but he says if I love him I'll marry him. I do love him, but if he loves me I should think he'd be willing to wait. Don't you?

D. S.: Dear D. S.: I sure do! Don't let his double talk flummox you into a secret marriage. When you marry, do it proudly, and take with you the love, good wishes and blessings of your friends and family.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I love Al, and I've lost him. We had a date to meet one evening and I was detained. Now I'll never see him again as I don't know his address or telephone number.

ESTHER: Dear Esther: Surely you must know something about the boy you profess to love? Where does he go to school, to church, who are his friends, what are his activities? There must be some way for you to contact him and offer an explanation. Do some sleuthing. And be a bit careful about slinging the term "in love" around so casually.

opening new, farm markets. In a statement prepared for a Senate Agriculture Committee hearing, he asked specifically for quick action on a broad program outlined by President Eisenhower in a special message on agriculture yesterday.

The program drew heavy fire from many farm state congressmen.

As Eisenhower had done, Benson characterized major features of current farm programs as failures.

The result, he said, has been lost markets, accumulation of costly surpluses, over lighter restrictions on production and an adverse effect on farm income.

Benson put great stress on administration proposals to give the department authority to set price supports for such basic crops as wheat, corn, cotton, rice, tobacco, peanuts and dairy products as low as 60 per cent of parity. The present minimum is 75 per cent of parity.

Partly is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

A number of key legislators have said that major proposal by the administration stands no chance of adoption.

Benson said existing law, permitting price supports on certain crops at between 75 and 90 per cent of parity, is not flexible.

Benson told the committee the decision on remodeling present programs now is in the hands of Congress and farmers.

"I have great optimism about the future of agriculture," he said. "This optimism originates from the fact that, in the final analysis, farmers will have to make up their minds which way they want to go."

"They will decide whether they want more freedom, more flexibility, more right of individual decision, more opportunity to make sound adjustments in line with their great efficiency, or whether they prefer more and more restrictive controls."

Little controversy developed over some other proposals in the farm message. President Eisenhower sent to Congress, and these appeared likely to win approval. There was some evidence that Congress members from consumareas yesterday to determine the extent of interest in the program. They said it may be necessary to allocate the funds among states.

Under the acreage reserve, the department makes payments to farmers who retire part of all their planting allotments for cotton, wheat, rice and tobacco.

Officials said the top-level decision to drop the acreage reserve had been based in large measure on small participation of winter wheat farmers during a slump period last fall. They said it was unlikely the administration would change its decision to abandon the acreage reserve.

Interest in retiring cotton land in the southwest apparently grew, officials said, from losses suffered by many growers because of adverse weather during the latter part of the growing season.

The acreage reserve program offers a type of crop insurance to growers not wishing to risk crop losses two years in a row.

Governor's Father in the Hospital
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus' father, Sam Faubus of Combs, Madison County, has been admitted to a hospital at Prairie Grove, the governor's office said today.

A spokesman said the elder Faubus apparently had suffered an attack of pleurisy. He was reported as apparently not in a dangerous condition.

Gov. Faubus, vacationing in Phoenix, was advised of the illness. The governor, who is scheduled to return to Little Rock late tomorrow, asked that he be kept advised of his father's condition.

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A new Indian baseball dubbed the "Spunik" has been adopted for the 1958 National Non-Pro Baseball Tournament in Wichita, Ray Dumont said today.

The tournament will open in August.

Dumont, president of the sponsoring National Baseball Congress, said tests were made last week in Lawrence Stadium, touristy site.

He said they show the new ball has much higher visibility than the standard ball used in league and tournament play, especially in daylight.

It has a pinkish orange color,
he said, but appears almost white in the air.

Dave Fishback, Wichita advertising executive, designed it. It will be licensed to manufacturers and become generally available at the start of the 1959 season.

Quips Mean Little When Chips Down

PINE BLUFF (AP)—"He couldn't shoot his way out of a wet paper bag if somebody'd supply him with a cannon," says Pine Bluff Police Chief Norman Young of Jefferson County Sheriff Harold Norton.

And Norton retorts with: "It's just jealous because our department solves all the crimes which normally would be in his bailiwick."

These are just two of the comments which are traded with regularity by the heads of this area's two law enforcement agencies. But it's all in fun, as any newspaperman who has ever worked with these two will testify.

Norton, formerly a used car dealer in Pine Bluff, has been sheriff for nearly four years now. Apparently, the public is satisfied with the record of his department has made. At least, he had no opposition when he first ran for reelection. Last week, he beat off contestants in a pistol shoot sponsored by the Arkansas Sheriff's Association. This brought on Young's comment about Norton's marksmanship.

Young, who is about the same age as the sheriff, came up through the ranks to command the Pine Bluff Police Department. He succeeded veteran policeman Met Gallagher a little more than four years ago—giving him a better-than-even break in his fluctuating fight with the sheriff.

Actually, the good-natured battle of verbs and adjectives makes for swifter justice in this city and county. Everyone who works for and around these two men never is under tension. It would be practically impossible. Even when Norton and Young think a direct order is necessary, it's given in such a way that no one resents it. But no one dares to overlook it either, since discipline is not unheard of.

And that brings to mind another exchange between the two referees from the TV westerns:

"Young couldn't give a direct order without laughing if his life depended on it," says Norton.

"He's just jealous of my cheerful disposition," Young quips.

Benson Has Ike's Backing of Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson wants farmers and the public generally to know that President Eisenhower stands firmly behind him in seeking lower farm price supports.

The secretary discussed the situation at a news conference yesterday. A special agriculture message Eisenhower will send to Congress Thursday will contain, Benson said, a firm insistence upon farm program changes, Benson said, adding:

"I do know that the President believes in what he will recommend."

The secretary also said Eisenhower would take a hand in trying to get his farm recommendation adopted by the Democratic-controlled Congress.

Benson's remarks appeared to have been made in reply to reports and speculation in farm and legislative circles that the President himself had little personal interest in farm policies and legislation and would merely pass along to Congress what Benson proposed.

Democratic critics of administration farm policies said they welcomed this Benson affirmation of Eisenhower interest in those policies. They noted that there has been a tendency among some farmers' opponents of those policies to lay responsibility for them on Benson rather than on the President.

Benson said he did not know yet just what steps Eisenhower will take to try to get administration farm proposals adopted. He said, however, that the chief executive doubtless will confer with congressional leaders on the matter.

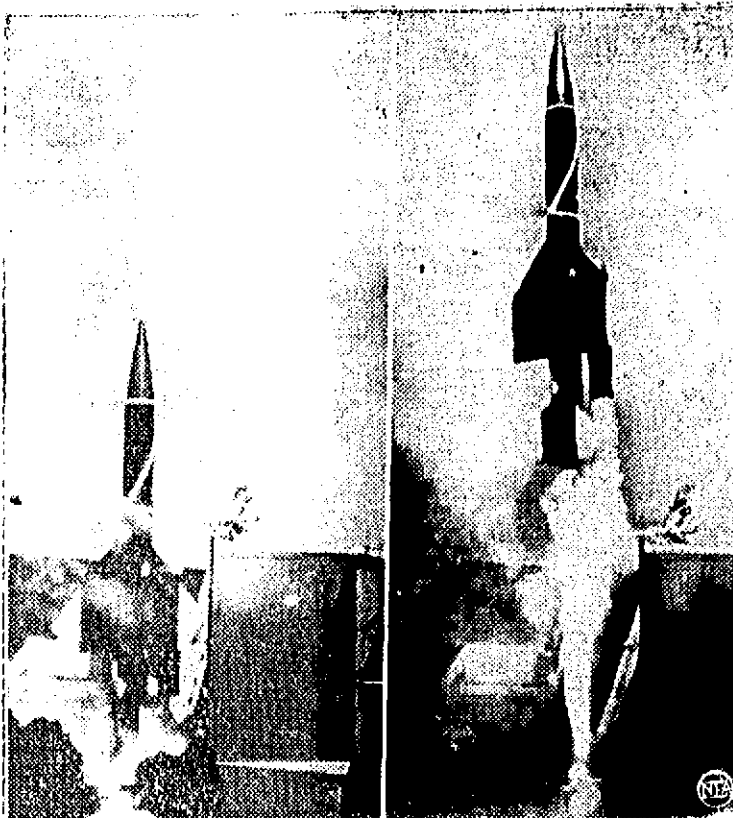

Benson himself will appear before the Senate Agriculture Committee Friday morning to expand on recommendations to be outlined in the farm message.

No Decision on L. R. Suspension

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—School Supt. Virgil T. Blossom says he has not yet decided what to do about the case of a white girl suspended from Little Rock Central High School in an incident involving a Negro girl student.

Blossom said yesterday he had talked with the white girl, 17-year-old Darlene Holloway, and her mother, Mrs. Fred Gist.

The girl's 3-day minimum suspension will be up today, Blossom said. After three days the superintendent rules on when a suspended student will be reinstated.

MISSILES ORDERED — The Air Force has awarded the Boeing Airplane Co. of Seattle, Wash., an order for approximately 100 B-29 bomber defensive missiles. Left, the missile is shown on its launching shelter just before firing. Right, the B-29 bomber blasts off, trailing flame and smoke. The Air Force also announced, for the first time, that the B-29 is capable of being fired in salvo to intercept individual targets of a mass attacking force. — NEA Telephoto

IT'S A PIPE—According to Smithsonian Institution the Adena people, who lived in the Ohio Valley some 3,000 years ago, smoked a pipe, left, that looked like the head of a modern shoveler duck, right. The pipe, said to be the first bird effigy ever found in an Adena mound, was unearthed from a huge Indian mound in West Virginia.

THE STORY: An uprising of the Modocs has made travel unsafe in Oregon and Ward Sebastian urges Connie Ashland, niece of Major Ashland, to remain at his ranch which is occupied by troops. Connie accepts and Sebastian promises to bring her luggage from Yreka.

Finished with their coffee, Sebastian and Phil Ashland left, and Connie, moving to a kitchen window, watched them stride vigorously across the open interval between the ranch house and other buildings and the corrals beyond. She had always thought of Phil as being tall, yet Ward Sebastian beat him by an inch or two. In any event, they were a pair of fine, straight specimens, and Connie was startled to realize that some small part of her settled interest in one, now was being claimed by the other.

A trace of confusion over this fact caught her and she turned away from the window to find Kitty Dutra at her elbow, also watching the departure of the two men. Searching for a remark to cover her uncertainty, Connie said:

"Mr. Sebastian is a very considerate man, isn't he?"

Missing neither Connie's color nor small confusion, Kitty Dutra smiled wisely.

"There never was a kinder. I've known Ward for years. He befriended my father and my brother beyond all reason, and now he is befriending me, allowing me the security of his home."

"I get my future unraveled a bit. You see, I recently lost my husband in a Modoc raid."

"Oh!" breathed Connie. "I, I'm sorry. I didn't know."

Kitty Dutra inclined her head slightly and made another of her startling statements.

Russia Ready to Send Group to S. America

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Communist governments are ready and eager to send know-how teams to Latin America to compete with the Americans there.

Moscow already has mounted a heavy propaganda offensive keyed to the advantages of Latin-American economic cooperation with Communist bloc nations.

Thus far the Latin Americans seem unimpressed. U.S. aid programs and technicians alike are highly popular. Local leaders would consider it disastrous if the United States cut back either on the program or the U.S. personnel engaged in technical assistance.

In more prosperous areas of Latin America, the International Cooperation Administration program, successor to Point Four, is insignificant. But where sizable programs are under way, the response is enthusiastic. Here is a rundown:

BAZIL The program is considered important to this growing nation's development. It is relatively modest, costing about 4½ million dollars a year. There are 135 U.S. technicians working in agriculture, health, education, mineral development, civil aviation, railways and labor programs. Over-all administration accounts for 33.

Technical assistance is popular, except among the Communists. The program has established a business and public administration school in Sao Paulo, brought airport improvements for Rio de Janeiro, Porto Alegre and Sao Paulo and set up special schools to train know-how on to others.

PERU: The consensus here is that U.S. technical assistance is a boon, and highly successful.

The program is staffed by 36 North Americans and 2,600 Peruvians. Of the North Americans, only 10 per cent are in administrative jobs. As times goes by, Peruvians take on more and more executive responsibility for the program.

CHILE: The aid program has been showered with praise. Chile's projects include agricultural improvements, development of commerce, health, industrial development, scientific and economic research programs and public administration. Fifth-three Americans work with 380 Chileans. American technicians are highly popular.

MEXICO: Most of the ICA program concerns training Mexicans to do better jobs and to pass know-how on to others. It costs Uncle Sam about $700,000 a year, small in comparison with programs elsewhere. There are only 10 Americans on the permanent staff.

The Mexico program concentrates on an industrial productivity center set up with U.S. help. Visiting American experts give seminars at the center, teaching North American techniques.

PARAGUAY: The technical aid program bore much fruit in improving ancient farming methods in this small country. A relatively small ICA staff has aroused no resentment.

CUBA: There are only 17 Americans working on technical aid programs in prosperous Cuba. It costs a maximum of $570,000 annually. Americans serve only in advisory capacities in farming, education, mining, public administration and labor-training programs.

URUGUAY: There is only a small ICA staff in Uruguay. But, said a source close to the government, "the departure of U.S. aid technicians would be deplorable" because of the important assistance they give in specialized fields.

roof, Captain?"

Dillon looked Sebastian up and down. "Mister," he said, his voice harsh in his throat, "can't you do anything but try to obstruct Army affairs?"

"As it happens, Captain," Sebastian rejoined, "I'm not trying to obstruct any Army affairs. This Provo Holt is no part of the Army. He's a renegade, and whether he is under your authority or not, he doesn't stay one extra minute on my place. If necessary, I personally will run him off with a gun. It he turns on me, I'll kill him! Does that answer you, Captain?"

"I hope," said Dillon sarcastically, "you'll allow me time to report officially to Major Ashland before you take any such violent steps."

"Captain," Sebastian said, with equal sarcasm, "I wouldn't for the world interfere with your official duties."

Dillon went on and turned into the bunkhouse where Major Ashland had set up a temporary headquarters. Sam Lester looked an eye up at Sebastian.

"Now you've had your say about Provo Holt. But how about that man of his, Yancey McCloud?"

Sebastian shrugged. "I keep remembering he's Kitty Dutra's brother. Because of that, I've made a lot of allowances for him in the past. But there's a limit to a man's patience. This time he's used up his term of grace. So he leaves, right along with Holt."

SURE SIGN—These long-handled underdrawers are a sure sign that the weather is cold and stormy, and that's why someone ran them up on a storm-warning pole in Miami, Fla. H. L. Penny, superintendent of the Matheson Hammock Public Beach, hauls the longies down from the pole as the thermometer read an un-Florida-like 31 degrees.

Sees Doctors as Greatest Ambassadors

By CHARLES MERGER

NEW YORK (AP)—"They're a dedicated people, a strange and wonderful breed of man. They'd never come home and work down at the corner. By comparison they make you yourself feel like a pretty shabby person."

A man named Lou Hazum was talking. The "strange and wonderful breed" he was discussing is American physicians — both missionaries and others — whom he met in obscure places on a fabulous round-the-world trip with a TV camera crew.

The television audience can meet some of these physicians and view their extraordinary work next Thursday night when March of Medicine presents "M.D. International" on NBC-TV.

With David Lowe, the producer-director of the program, and five technicians, Hazum visited Korea, Hong Kong, Burma, Nepal, Lebanon, Ethiopia and India on an 81-day 34,000-mile expedition.

Hazum, a writer who lives in Silver Springs, Md., wrote and filmed in the Belgian Congo the excellent "Monganga" program for March of Medicine last year.

"I believe that American doctors are our greatest unofficial ambassadors abroad," he says. "To hundreds of thousands of people in far parts of the world the word 'American' means only one thing: a little man working in a little hospital who saves lives and brings health to the sick."

Not all these ambassadors are men, of course. Hazum recalled helplessly on the ice-coated Pennsylvania Turnpike last night and slammed against a bridge abutment with such force that a 15-foot section of the vehicle was ripped off.

Two persons riding in the detached rear portion were killed. Sixteen others were injured and taken to the Bedford County Memorial Hospital. Nine were released this morning.

Killed were Charles Malloy, 22, a soldier, of Albia, Iowa, and Miss Marian Lay, 65, of New York City.

The front section of the Continental Trailways bus skidded 150 feet down the highway. The rear section lodged against the concrete pier in the medial strip which separates the road's eastbound and westbound lanes. There was no fire.

The accident occurred about 12 miles west of Bedford, which is some 100 miles east of Pittsburgh. The bus was en route from Pittsburgh to New York.

The driver, Gordon Hileman, 38, of Uniontown, Pa., was treated for minor scratches and released.

"My Business is Groceries..."

"It is my business to give the people of this community the very best in food values, prompt service, courteous treatment. The kind of merchandise that goes on my shelves has a lot to do with my success, so I buy good products that are made and packaged in accordance with the well known standards of quality, weight and measure. Buying and selling on the basis of these standards protects my customers and my business."

"I know from experience that good newspaper advertising is the best way to tell people the news of my store. In my opinion, newspaper advertising is not only the most effective way for me to advertise, it is also the safest way. When I spend money in newspaper advertising I make my investment on the basis of verified circulation figures and values that are as well known and important in advertising as the standards of weight and quality that I use in my own business."
